

APPLICATION OF BASIC PROGRAMMING

Basic programming language builds a variety of platforms for developing computer programs. It is the building blocks that help students learn coding and manipulate it to make and provide solutions for computer programs. This programming language is usually used by beginners in order to sharpen and develop programming techniques.